Commander's Report

Most are not veterans and have never experienced the long period of separation from family and friends. The long nights awake on an outpost, listening, thinking you hear something—to have your mind play tricks on you. Sleeping, eating and existing in a half water-filled foxhole. We were there...

...THEY WERE NOT!!!!

This year is an election year, it is time to hold those who are in office accountable to protect the rights of the veteran; to have their service-related medical conditions properly diagnosed and treated in a timely fashion; to have the financial needs if warranted and not eliminated because another social program; not to have their retirement entitlements eroded; and most importantly, not just being ignored.

Look at the list of candidates. Do not vote because they are in office or a nice person, but because they will protect the veterans of yesterday, the young men and women of today, and those of the future.

Thanks for listening,

Ron

If it not Congress, then it the DoD! If it is not the Federal Government, then it is the Commonwealth of Virginia!

Eliminating Veteran's entitlements is an easy task for the elected officials.

Service Officer's Report

As we have all seen recently out of Washington our pay, benefits and retirement is being seen as something that can be taken away bit by bit by those in Washington.

Please take note of this and if you can contact your representative, Congressman or Senator, and tell them not to take away any veterans benefits.

We must fight together to keep what we have earned and that nothing is taken from us.

Your Service Officers exist to help you and your dependents receive every benefit you are entitled to. Please do feel free to contact and speak any of us so we can provide you with the help and assistance you may need.

If you know of anyone being provided home care of any type please consider advising them to contact us. They could be entitled to "Aid and Attendance". If you are a veteran in a care facility where you must have direct care or if perhaps you are home bound and receiving direct care please consider filing for this benefit.

Please seek out and contact any of our Service Officers here at Post 7589 and ask about this. We will assist you in filing for this benefit with the DVA and see if you qualify for it.

Please also feel free to contact our Service Officer Team at any time for questions, suggestions or other needs you may have at: so7589@verizon.net or call us at 1-

Youth News and Notes

Pete MacLeod, Youth Chair

It is not that often that young people remember to send a thank you letter after receiving an honor, prize or recognition from VFW Post 7589. A big exception arrived in the mail last month from local Scout of the Year Matthew Zackschewski , now a student at Penn State.

A graduate of Westfield High School, Matthew is majoring in Computer Science Engineering and has a goal of getting to Medical School. The path is not easy, getting accepted to medical school is extremely difficult and will involve the MCAT exams Matthew’s Junior year at college. He has set his sights on Penn State’s Hershey Park Medical School and wants to become a medical doctor and he wants to incorporate his computer knowledge into his medical expertise. For instance, he has visions of designing and programming robots for use in surgery. He also has looked at the medical profession in different ways through his involvement in the National Youth Leadership Forum.

By now, you might be thinking that this guy is a hopeless nerd who does nothing but sit in the library and study and dream up grand plans. Well, as far as I’m concerned , if this guy is a nerd, I want to be one too! He not only has academic and medical ambitions, he is maintaining his religious convictions at Penn State. He joined the Pasquerilla Spiritual Center where on campus masses are held, and joined the choir there and plays the trumpet for the choir.

You must be wondering what Matthew did in high school? He graduated Magna cum Laude with a grade point average of 3.92, just short of perfect. Like many freshmen , he struggled a bit during his just completed first semester at college. But what I liked, he tackled his hardest subject, Calculus II and got a 92 on his final exam.

And in the last paragraph of his letter to the Post he thanks us for his $200.00 scholarship award and says that as an Eagle Scout he will continue to uphold the Scout Oath and Law and continue to give back to society.

You know what? I believe him and wish him all the luck in the world!

COLA Penalty Removed for Most

Thanks in large part to VFW's grassroots advocates for bombarding their congressional offices with tens of thousands of phone calls and e-mails, Congress overwhelmingly passed legislation this week to eliminate the controversial one-percent COLA penalty on working-age military retirees. The House vote Tuesday was 326-90 and the Senate vote Wednesday was 95-3. The bill also contained a grandfather clause that extends to those currently serving, provided they were in uniform prior to the end of 2013. The legislation does not, however, remove the penalty on all future retirees who entered the military after Jan. 1. Regarding future retirees, VFW National Commander Bill Thien said "the world will remain a very dangerous and unpredictable place even after America ends its involvement in Afghanistan, and future military retirees will be required to serve just as long and perhaps sacrifice even more than their predecessors. It is in that regard that the VFW will continue to fight for a full repeal of the COLA penalty, and we hope that this week's vote continues that conversation."

VFW Statement on Military Retiree COLA Vote

WASHINGTON (February 12, 2014) — "The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States thanks all our supporters in the House of Representatives and Senate for taking quick action to repeal the one-percent COLA penalty on working-age military retirees. The Senate today followed yesterday's House passage of a bill to eliminate the penalty for current retirees and everyone serving in uniform prior to the end of 2013, should they choose to remain until retirement eligible. The legislation does not, however, remove the penalty on future retirees who enter the military after Jan. 1, 2014.

"The world will remain a very dangerous and unpredictable place even after America ends its involvement in Afghanistan, and future military retirees will be required to serve just as long and perhaps sacrifice even more than their predecessors. It is in that regard that the VFW will continue to fight for a full repeal of the COLA penalty, and we hope that this vote will continue that conversation."

Benefits Fights Not Over

The COLA penalty was a surprise provision in last December's Bipartisan Budget Agreement. More surprises could come in March, when the administration releases its fiscal year 2015 budget recommendations. Back in August 2011, the VFW unveiled its 10 for 10 Plan, which were 10 DOD/VA programs that we believed were under threat of elimination or reduction to help pay for (then) 10 years of war. Below are the 10 programs, which are still on the radarscope based on present-day budget battles, the deficit, the continued threat of sequestration, and the recommendations to be made next year by the Military Compensation and Retirement Modernization Commission:

- Change the 20-year military retirement plan to resemble civilian plans.
- Increase healthcare premiums for military families and retirees on TRICARE.
- Increase pharmaceutical fees for military families and retirees.
- Reduce COLA increases.
- End government subsidies to military commissaries.
- Eliminate DOD elementary schools stateside.
- Eliminate DOD tuition assistance programs for service members.

- Eliminate presumptive service-connected conditions for disabled and ill veterans.
- Lock out or increase fees for VA Priority Group 7 and 8 veterans.
- And lower or freeze military pay, similar to the recent three-year (FY 2011-13) freeze for federal civilians

GMU to offer course on Vietnam this summer

My name is Kristin Wood and I am working on a faculty led study abroad program to Vietnam and Myanmar this summer, run through George Mason University. The course title is "Visualizing a Post-Conflict World" and it uses visual journalism to explore the aftermath of conflict.

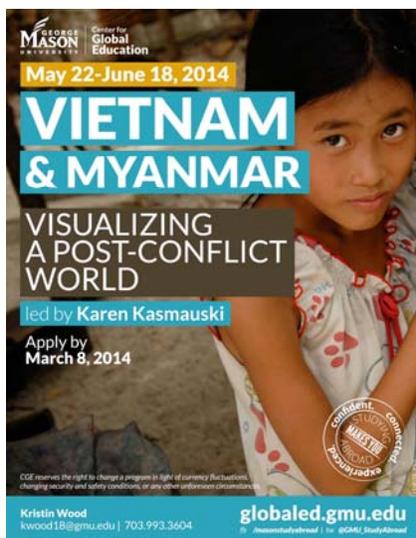

Students on this program will be learning a lot about the Vietnam War and visiting important sites from the war, as well as visiting a children's center that is supported by an American veteran group. I thought this program might be interesting for Vietnam veterans or their family members, to see at first hand the long journey of recovery from the war in Vietnam, with its environmental and human costs that are still felt today.

The course is 6 credits and it takes place throughout Vietnam and Myanmar from May 22-June 18. Non-students are also welcome to come on the program.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions you might have. I have attached the program flyer and you can find more information, including the program itinerary, on the website here. If you think the members ... might be interested in the program, I would really appreciate if you could share this information with them.
